Pan Fish, Pan Fish, Pan Fish. Both the upper and lower lakes have been producing massive quantities of Blue Gill and Crappie. At the upper lake, the marina is doing awesome in the corner of the dam and around the point to the right of the marina. Wax Worms, Meal Worms, Night Crawlers and power bait crappie nibbles are working for both the lakes. You can catch the pan fish at all times of the day. The lower has better pan fishing all around and is producing much bigger fish. The lower lake is also producing a lot of nice sized largemouth bass. The bass seem to be hitting on small swim baits and little minnows. The largemouths at the upper lake are also doing very well. They are hitting in the backs of the coves still on the usual baits. Robo worms, Senko's, small swim baits and night crawlers are still working great. The night crawlers are the best all around to use right now the cat fish fishing is off the hook on night crawlers. The cat fish are biting all over Elizabeth canyon and around Kong Island and the main dam. The stripers are also biting on the night crawlers as well, along the west cliffs and near Kong Island. The stripers are boiling near the main ramp all day long as well as all over the lake. It is hard for the striper fishing to get much better. Anchovies and Sardine are still working very well for the striper too. The moonlight fishing was a total success again, producing a lot of fish again all over the lake from boat fishing and from shore fishing.
