FISHING REPORT

WEEK ENDING 01/02/2010

WATER TEMP: Low to high 50's

LOWER LAKE Trout Plant: 12/28/2009 Approx. 450 lbs

UPPER LAKE Trout Plant: 12/28/2009 Approx. 450 lbs

At the beginning of last week the fishing had just shut off until about Wednesday. After the small storm had come through then the small schools of stripers started to bite again but the mid range stripers were still very hard to bring to the surface. Thru the rest of the week the stripers really didn't seem to get much better. This goes for the largemouth bite as well, this is unfortunate but for the past week we have been a big slump. Some stripers are biting from the shore in government cove, and it seems to be more of a cut bait bite on sardines and night crawlers. People have been throwing all kinds of baits at these fish and the fishing is just nowhere near what it has been in recent months. The water level is a big contributing factor to why the fishing has been hit really hard. From late November through the New Year the water level rose 29 feet and plans to keep going up. This is good for our water supply but the fishing is just going to become just a little bit more harder, but we will bounce back from this and have a full lake again The lagoon fishing hasn't really been effected by this the water level is a full pool now and the trout, large mouth, and panfish are all biting well. They have biting on an array of baits from plastics to swimbaits to live bait. The fishing down at the lagoon seems to still be doing great all day and night .
